Please refer to the memorandum dated October 23, 1970 from the Manufacturing Chemists' Association covering the organization and proposed method of operation for CHEMTREC, a national chemical transportation emergency center. You have invited my comments on this memorandum.

Please accept my apologies for the delay in responding to your request. This has been necessary because of a two week period spent in the hospital followed by a substantially reduced work schedule for another week.

From Ed Donley's letter of November 9, 1970, I have learned of his suggestion that Dennis F. O'Donnell be designated as the APCI representative to coordinate all CHEMTREC emergency procedures. I support Mr. Donley's recommendation fully. Dennis O'Donnell has been active in the development of data leading to the formation of the CHEMTREC recommendations. He has participated on sub-committees and is thoroughly familiar with the operation and functioning of the emergency procedures which are embodied in the establishment of these emergency procedures.

I also understand from Mr. Donley's letter that Dennis O'Donnell has been recommended for consideration as the APCI representative to the MCA Transportation and Distribution Committee as proposed in my memorandum of October 19, 1970.

Dear Bill:

We have been considering our future relationship with the Transportation and Distribution Committee and also with Chemtrec. We wish to suggest that Mr. Dennis F. O'Donnell of our company be our representative in regard to the Chemtrec matter and that when a position becomes available on the Transportation and Distribution Committee, he be considered for this position.

Mr. O'Donnell is a graduate of Rutgers University, 1961, with an AB in Economics. He is Manager of Order Control and Distribution for the Houdry Division of Air Products and Chemicals, with responsibility for order processing and customer communications, in addition to managing the traffic function of in-bound and out-bound products for domestic and international customers.

I'm looking forward to seeing you at the meeting in New York later this month and perhaps we can visit about this matter at that time, if it seems desirable from your standpoint.

Yours sincerely,

mp
