Dear Doctor Drinker:

Cost of reprints of the Lead Symposium will be sent to you as soon as the galley's are put in page form. Two estimates will be given you, viz; one for binding the papers under one cover, and the other for binding each paper separately under its own cover.

To attempt to give estimates before the Symposium is paged would involve elements of guess work, and I think it highly desirable to avoid doing so.

In accordance with your request
I am sending copies of this letter to Doctor Kehoe and to Doctor Dressen. When the final estimates are made I shall send copies to them as well as to you.

Sincerely yours,

GROVER C. ORTH
