

EXXON COMPANY, U.S.A.

POST OFFICE BOX 2180 • HOUSTON, TEXAS 77001

HEALTH SERVICES DEPARTMENT
INDUSTRIAL HYGIENEHANS H. SIEGEL
MANAGER

June 9, 1994

RE: Corporate Inquiry
Regarding Past Safety
Programs and Procedures
Concerning AsbestosProfessor Clyde Berry
15 Curlew Ct.
Hendersonville, North Carolina 28792

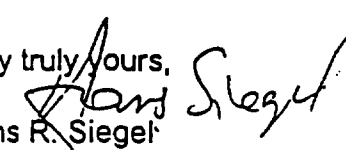

Dear Professor Berry:

I have recently assumed the responsibility for the Industrial Hygiene Department of Headquarters Health Services, Exxon Company, U.S.A. My Company assignment for some years prior to my current position was outside the United States, and I am interested in ensuring that I am familiar with the Company's industrial hygiene practices, both currently and in the past.

I am writing to request your input into a Company investigative effort and written report to memorialize the Company's past standard operating procedures and policies with respect to Exxon's and its predecessor companies' efforts to protect workers from potential asbestos health hazards. Our policies and practices regarding asbestos have, from time to time, been a subject of inquiry. However, as you are no doubt aware, the passage of time, the administration of our records retention policy, and the retirements of many long-time employees have all led to some of the Company's records on this subject being discarded or lost. Your input, drawn from your first-hand knowledge and experience of over thirty years will be critical to accurately memorializing the policies and practices of Exxon and its predecessor companies.

You will be contacted shortly concerning the coordination of this effort.

Very truly yours,

Hans R. Siegel
(713) 656-3387

000002

EXXON COMPANY, U.S.A.
POST OFFICE BOX 2180 • HOUSTON, TEXAS 77001

HEALTH SERVICES DEPARTMENT
INDUSTRIAL HYGIENE

HANS M. SIEGEL
MANAGER

June 9, 1994

RE: Corporate Inquiry
Regarding Past Safety
Programs and Procedures
Concerning Asbestos

Professor George Cvejjanovich
7607 Eastmark Drive, Suite 260
College Station, Texas 77840

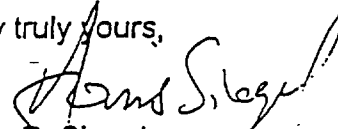

Dear Professor Cvejjanovich:

I have recently assumed the responsibility for the Industrial Hygiene Department of Headquarters Health Services, Exxon Company, U.S.A. Like you, my former duties for the Company took me out of the country for some time, and I am now interested in ensuring that I am familiar with the Company's industrial hygiene practices, both currently and in the past.

I understand that you are currently engaged in some consulting work for the Company, and I am writing to request your input into a Company investigative effort and written report to memorialize the Company's past standard operating procedures and policies with respect to Exxon's and its predecessor companies' efforts to protect workers from potential asbestos health hazards. Our policies and practices regarding asbestos have, from time to time, been a subject of inquiry. However, as you are no doubt aware, the passage of time, the administration of our records retention policy, and the retirements of many long-time employees have all led to some of the Company's records on this subject being discarded or lost. Your input, drawn from your first-hand knowledge and experience of over thirty years will be critical to accurately memorializing the policies and practices of Exxon and its predecessor companies.

You will be contacted shortly concerning the coordination of this effort.

Very truly yours,

Hans R. Siegel
(713) 656-3387

000003

EXXON COMPANY, U.S.A.

POST OFFICE BOX 2180 • HOUSTON, TEXAS 77001
HEALTH SERVICES DEPARTMENT
INDUSTRIAL HYGIENE

HANS H. SIEGEL
MANAGER

June 9, 1994

RE: Corporate Inquiry
Regarding Past Safety
Programs and Procedures
Concerning Asbestos

Dr. Robert Eckardt
10409 E. Champagne Drive
Sun Lakes, Arizona 85248

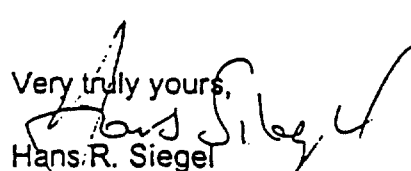

Dear Dr. Eckardt:

I have recently assumed the responsibility for the Industrial Hygiene Department of Headquarters Health Services, Exxon Company, U.S.A. My Company assignment for some years prior to my current position was outside the United States, and I am interested in ensuring that I am familiar with the Company's industrial hygiene practices, both currently and in the past.

I understand that you are currently engaged in some consulting work for the Company, and I am writing to request your input into a Company investigative effort and written report to memorialize the Company's past standard operating procedures and policies with respect to Exxon's and its predecessor companies' efforts to protect workers from potential asbestos health hazards. Our policies and practices regarding asbestos have, from time to time, been a subject of inquiry. However, as you are no doubt aware, the passage of time, the administration of our records retention policy, and the retirements of many long-time employees have all led to some of the Company's records on this subject being discarded or lost. Your input, drawn from your first-hand knowledge and experience of over thirty years will be critical to accurately memorializing the policies and practices of Exxon and its predecessor companies.

You will be contacted shortly concerning the coordination of this effort.

Very truly yours,

Hans R. Siegel

(713) 656-3387 C00004

EXXON COMPANY, U.S.A.

POST OFFICE BOX 2180 • HOUSTON, TEXAS 77001

HEALTH SERVICES DEPARTMENT
INDUSTRIAL HYGIENE

HANS H. SIEGEL
MANAGER

June 9, 1994

RE: Corporate Inquiry
Regarding Past Safety
Programs and Procedures
Concerning Asbestos

Professor James W. Hammond, Sr.
1010 Town Place
Houston, Texas 77057

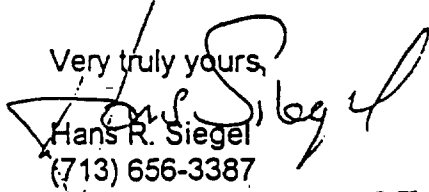

Dear Professor Hammond:

I have recently assumed the responsibility for the Industrial Hygiene Department of Headquarters Health Services, Exxon Company, U.S.A. This is essentially the position you formerly held for over thirty years. My Company assignment for some years prior to my current position was outside the United States, and I am interested in ensuring that I am familiar with the Company's industrial hygiene practices, both currently and in the past.

I understand that you are currently engaged in some consulting work for the Company, and I am writing to request your input into a Company investigative effort and written report to memorialize the Company's past standard operating procedures and policies with respect to Exxon's and its predecessor companies' efforts to protect workers from potential asbestos health hazards. Our policies and practices regarding asbestos have, from time to time, been a subject of inquiry. However, as you are no doubt aware, the passage of time, the administration of our records retention policy, and the retirements of many long-time employees have all led to some of the Company's records on this subject being discarded or lost. Your input, drawn from your first-hand knowledge and experience of over thirty years will be critical to accurately memorializing the policies and practices of Exxon and its predecessor companies.

You will be contacted shortly concerning the coordination of this effort.

Very truly yours,

Hans R. Siegel
(713) 656-3387

000005

EXXON COMPANY, U.S.A.

POST OFFICE BOX 2180 • HOUSTON, TEXAS 77001
HEALTH SERVICES DEPARTMENT
INDUSTRIAL HYGIENE

HANS R. SIEGEL
MANAGER

June 9, 1994

RE: Corporate Inquiry
Regarding Past Safety
Programs and Procedures
Concerning Asbestos

Dr. John G. Lione, M.D.
American Association of Retired Person
601 E. Street, N.W.
Washington, DC 20049

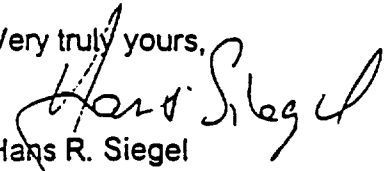

Dear Dr. Lione:

I have recently assumed the responsibility for the Industrial Hygiene Department of Headquarters Health Services, Exxon Company, U.S.A. My Company assignment for some years prior to my current position was outside the United States, and I am interested in ensuring that I am familiar with the Company's industrial hygiene practices, both currently and in the past.

I am writing to request your input into a Company investigative effort and written report to memorialize the Company's past standard operating procedures and policies with respect to Exxon's and its predecessor companies' efforts to protect workers from potential asbestos health hazards. Our policies and practices regarding asbestos have, from time to time, been a subject of inquiry. However, as you are no doubt aware, the passage of time, the administration of our records retention policy, and the retirements of many long-time employees have all led to some of the Company's records on this subject being discarded or lost. Your input, drawn from your first-hand knowledge and experience of over thirty years will be critical to accurately memorializing the policies and practices of Exxon and its predecessor companies.

You will be contacted shortly concerning the coordination of this effort.

Very truly yours,

Hans R. Siegel
(713) 656-3387

000006

EXXON COMPANY, U.S.A.

POST OFFICE BOX 2180 • HOUSTON, TEXAS 77001

HEALTH SERVICES DEPARTMENT
INDUSTRIAL HYGIENE

HANS R. SIEGEL
MANAGER

June 9, 1994

RE: Corporate Inquiry
Regarding Past Safety
Programs and Procedures
Concerning Asbestos

Dr. Neill K. Weaver
2327 North Powhatan Street
Arlington, Virginia 22205

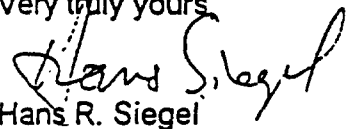

Dear Dr. Weaver:

I have recently assumed the responsibility for the Industrial Hygiene Department of Headquarters Health Services, Exxon Company, U.S.A. My Company assignment for some years prior to my current position was outside the United States, and I am interested in ensuring that I am familiar with the Company's industrial hygiene practices, both currently and in the past.

I understand that you are currently engaged in some consulting work for the Company, and I am writing to request your input into a Company investigative effort and written report to memorialize the Company's past standard operating procedures and policies with respect to Exxon's and its predecessor companies' efforts to protect workers from potential asbestos health hazards. Our policies and practices regarding asbestos have, from time to time, been a subject of inquiry. However, as you are no doubt aware, the passage of time, the administration of our records retention policy, and the retirements of many long-time employees have all led to some of the Company's records on this subject being discarded or lost. Your input, drawn from your first-hand knowledge and experience of over thirty years will be critical to accurately memorializing the policies and practices of Exxon and its predecessor companies.

You will be contacted shortly concerning the coordination of this effort.

Very truly yours,

Hans R. Siegel
(713) 656-3387

000007