Dear Red:

I am interested in Harriet Hardy's letter, and I have taken the liberty of writing to her on one aspect of her attitude which disturbs me. Since you have reason to be interested in this matter, I am attaching a blind copy of my letter to her.

My last trip to Los Angeles gave me little time to do anything but the thing I was there to do. I arrived in town on the night of the 15th and caught a plane home as soon as the legislative hearing was over. The trip was a very inconvenient interruption of my schedule, and I terminated it as quickly as possible, leaving myself no time for fun and games or even the amenities.

Thanks for thinking of me in connection with your correspondence with Harriet, and even more so for your disappointment at not hearing from me. I'll do better next time.

Sincerely,

Robert A. Kehoe, M.D.
