TULLER & MOOSMAN

Harry Freer thought he had convinced the above that the cause of the green enamel turning blue on windows was positively the use of an acid wash on the brick. With this out of the way it was intended to have a further meeting in New York City with their attorney, Mr. Morvack, to try to dispose of the Stippling Flat matter.

Lawyer Morvack refused to accept the green-blue explanation without his own investigation and so today's meeting is off.
