benzene, am I correct?

A Benzene would be one; vinyl chloride would be another.

Q But is it also fair to say that even though you found an increased risk of disease with benzene, you have testified on behalf of the benzene companies such as Chevron or Mobil? Are they involved in benzene?

A Yes.

Q You have testified for them that the particular workers who were claiming they contracted cancer from benzene exposure that their exposures were too low, so the benzene didn't cause it?

A I think you are oversimplifying the issue here.

When we talk about benzene that caused leukemia, again, we need to be specific what kind of leukemia are we talking about. How much exposure are we talking about? Do we have sufficient latency and so on.

Don't forget a lot of times when I work on a
