Hey Matt, you can attribute this statement to an EPA spokesperson.

“Administrator Pruitt had a call with Governor Reynolds this morning, following meetings yesterday with Sens. Grassley, Ernst, Fischer, Roberts, Sasse, Rounds, and Thune. What Administrator Pruitt said in his confirmation hearing still stands: he doesn’t want to take any steps to undermine the objectives in the statute of the RFS. We continue to work with RFS stakeholders to ensure EPA is applying the statute in a meaningful way, as Congress intended.”

Christie,

I do farm reporting for couple of networks in the Midwest. I'm trying to find out if reports in the Daily Caller and other media that the President has ordered EPA to hold off on implementing its latest RFS volume requirements for 2018 are accurate.

This is time sensitive, if you can respond, shortly.

Thanks,
Matt Kaye
