EXPENSIVE FARE

PUEBLO, Colo., May 8 (P) - Colorado's honey-hungry bears are going to cost the State money. An arbitration board created by District Judge Harry Leddy recommended the State pay $750 of a $950 claim for damage done to bee hives in several bear raids. A statute makes the State liable for damage done by protected wild animals.

ALL LIGHTS GO RED

MANCHESTER (U.P.)-All traffic lights on the main street of Manchester will turn red when a fire alarm sounds in the future. Traffic on Elm street and all intersections will be halted as soon as an alarm comes in, by an operator at the central station, who can control all lights by pushing a button.

About half the sounds a human being makes with his voice are made within the mouth, the other half coming from the vocal chords.
