Dear Miss McKay:

Thanks for your nice letter of April 4.

I must tell you, however, that the article of which I spoke (prepared for the Air Pollution Control Association) is to be published in the official journal of this organization, so that I could not submit it for publication elsewhere.

I don't know just how your organization goes about getting its material. So far as I am concerned, a review of my review article would be acceptable to me, if I do not have to do anything about it myself. However, I have just declined another invitation to do a review article similar to the one referred to above, and I certainly do not plan to spend any more of my time in that same pursuit. Perhaps I should say that I'm working toward the preparation of a monograph, and I don't intend to let anything get in its way.

Sincerely yours,

Robert A. Kehoe, M.D.

Occupational Medicine
