Dr. Kehoe:

The Information Services of the Center for Air Environment Studies has been selected by the National Air Pollution Control Administration to gather and compile information concerning air pollution research projects that were completed or are underway during 1969. This information will be included in a joint publication A Guide to Air Pollution Research. The 1969 Guide will replace the Index to Air Pollution Research, which has been published in previous years, but has been discontinued for 1969.

The purpose of the Guide is to provide a means for greater and more rapid exchange of knowledge and ideas between personnel working in similar areas of air pollution research.

Recently, Dr. Ernest C. Foulkes of the University of Cincinnati notified me of your research project: "Human Exposure of Particulate Lead Compounds in the Air under Experimental Conditions."

With your permission, I would like to include it in A Guide to Air Pollution Research. Let me suggest this agreement: if I do not receive an adverse reply by Aug. 11, 1969, I will assume that you do not object to my listing your project in the Guide.

The following information about your project will be included:

1. the title
2. the investigator(s) name(s)
3. the performing organization and address
4. the supporting or funding agency
5. type of support
6. titles and citations of papers resulting from the project

Number 6 constitutes a section of the Guide. To make this section and your listing in the Guide as complete as possible, I must ask your assistance. First, please complete the enclosed questionnaire. Second, if there are any papers or publications resulting from your project, please list titles and journal citations (or information concerning the presentation) and send me a copy of each article.

Only your name was given as investigator of the project. If you wish to recognize an assistant or co-investigator, please forward the names of those you wish to be included. Also, if any of our information is in error, please notify us of the corrections as soon as possible.

If you are directing other research projects (other than mentioned) that you wish to have included in the Guide, please complete the forms enclosed (use the same format if there are more than two), and return them to my office by Aug. 11, 1969.

Upon completion, a copy of the Guide will be sent to you. Your cooperation and assistance will be greatly appreciated. If you have any questions, please contact me at 814:865-1415.

Sincerely yours,

(Mrs.) Donna F. Scheuchenzuber
Head of Information Services
