

To: Jackson, Ryan[jackson.ryan@epa.gov]
From: American Enterprise Institute
Sent: Tue 8/15/2017 10:00:18 AM
Subject: AEI Today: The White House's smart opening play on China

AEI's daily publication of independent research, insightful analysis, and scholarly debate

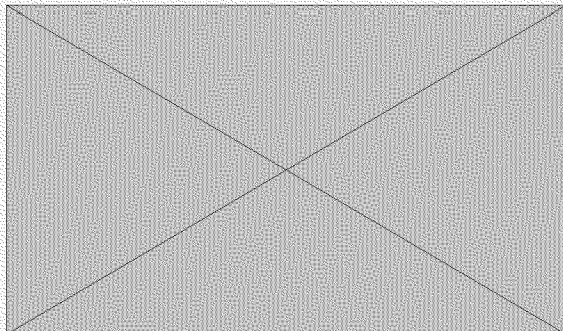

Reuters

The White House's smart opening play on China

Derek Scissors | AEIdeas

The Trump administration announced yesterday an investigation into Chinese actions to coerce the transfer of intellectual property from American companies and individuals, as well as steal it outright. There is a long way to go on this issue, and many mistakes can still be made. But the president's order is a good initial response to predatory Chinese economic policies — and one that is entirely consistent with conservative principles of free trade.

Full Stack

Twenty20

3 crucial questions about tax reform for the middle class

Aparna Mathur | Forbes

As the debate in Congress shifts to tax reform, and in particular to reducing the corporate tax rate, it is worth taking a step back to review what we know and don't know about US corporate income taxes and their impact on American workers. Three important questions: Is America a high-tax or a low-tax country; who actually pays the corporate income tax; and can we really fix the corporate income tax code? It's time we let facts get in the way of opinion.

Full Stack

MORE FROM AEI

China is our last diplomatic hope for North Korea

John R. Bolton | The Hill

New research shows that minimum wage hikes lead to automation. So is that good or bad?

James Pethokoukis | AEIdeas

Google's Orwellian firing

Michael Barone | Washington Examiner

No US military scenario in Afghanistan can succeed until Pakistan gets the message

John R. Bolton | Pittsburgh Tribune Review

The Nazi Swastika isn't the only symbol of ideological hate that persists in modern America

Michael Rubin | Washington Examiner

A Wall Street adage that sums up these days of ultra-easy monetary policy

Desmond Lachman | InsideSources

To secure the internet of the future, think outside the net neutrality box

Shane Tews | AEIdeas

Book chapter: Manpower, education, and jobs in Sub-Saharan Africa

Nicholas Eberstadt | Springer International Publishing

Next month, the Kurds will vote overwhelmingly in favor of independence. What happens then?

Michael Rubin | AEIdeas

Around the web: The foreign-born share of the US population is up, but don't blame high immigration for that

Matt Winesett | AEIdeas

AEI cares about your inbox. Want to tailor your AEI subscriptions? Click here and get content that matters to you.

View online | Ensure delivery | Subscribe

American Enterprise Institute

1789 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20036

202.862.5800 | www.aei.org

This message is for: jackson.ryan@epa.gov | Manage preferences | Unsubscribe

