Gentlemen:

Attention: Medical Department

A short time ago we had in our employ a man by the name of [REDACTED], who handled the Ethyl demonstrating machine for our Sales Department. This man is no longer in our employ and I have recently obtained information that he is being treated by a Doctor for some disability, and while there are as yet no definite claims of lead poisoning, some comments along this line have been made.

In order that we may not become involved with this man in such a claim, I would appreciate either his record of physical examination by attending Ethyl Doctor, or a concise or clear statement from you as to whether or not the man showed any trace of lead poisoning upon his last examination.

Very truly yours,

LOUISIANA OIL REFINING CORPORATION
