

withdraw from the middle of Europe and to accept the organization of a Western European defense system if the Germans were not incorporated into it.

And if they were not willing, our position would certainly be no weaker, and probably it would be stronger. By making this offer, we would show the Europeans that our policy is in fact defensive and that we are not bent on recreating the military power of Germany. By bringing on negotiations which postpone the showdown, we should relax the tension, gain time for our own government to become stable under a new administration, and allow the civilized world to calm its nerves and collect its wits.

MARS ON DISPLAY
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9 (AP) — The public will get a chance to inspect the world's largest flying boat, the Caroline Mars, at the second annual Air Fair at Mills Field Monday, the Navy announced today.
