We have been asked by Mr. Ferd Meyer, Environmental Health, to contact each of you and ask you to assist in a search for names of employees that formerly worked in Dept. 246. We understand Mr. Meyer is making certain the PCB Study conducted two years ago does in fact include all people who worked in the area. There is no evidence of any health problem, his work is to validate previous information.

From your memory, will you please list all of the employees that you can that worked in Dept. 246, approximately when they worked there, and what responsibilities they had. He is interested in names of both hourly and salaried employees.

May I have this information from you by April 21. After he has received these names, we will arrange for Mr. Meyer to visit the plant to discuss the names; we'll let you know the time and place.

1. The first part of the document is a title page. It contains the title of the document, the author's name, and the date of the document. The title is "The History of the United States of America". The author is "John Adams". The date is "1776".

2. The second part of the document is a preface. It contains a short introduction to the document, explaining the purpose of the document and the author's intentions. The preface is written in a formal, scholarly style.

3. The third part of the document is the main body of the text. It contains a detailed history of the United States of America, from the time of the first settlers to the present day. The text is written in a clear, concise, and engaging style, making it accessible to a wide range of readers.

4. The fourth part of the document is a conclusion. It summarizes the main points of the text and provides a final thought on the history of the United States. The conclusion is written in a formal, scholarly style, similar to the preface.

5. The fifth part of the document is a list of references. It contains a list of books, articles, and other sources that the author used in writing the document. The references are listed in a standard format, making it easy for readers to find the sources themselves.
