

WASHINGTON, NEW JERSEY
November 14, 1960

Kettering Laboratory
Eden & Bethesda Avenues
Cincinnati 29, Ohio

Gentlemen:

We are interested in some recently reported cases of lead poisoning allegedly resulting from eating foods from Cerama-Stone dinnerware. Newspaper clippings refer to "two well-authenticated cases of lead intoxication in a Cincinnati couple due to routine use of [a particular brand of] dinnerware."

Dr. Douglas H. K. Lee, Medical Director of the Occupational Health Research & Training Facility ^{of the U.S. Public Health Service} has advised us that the initial work on this matter was conducted by the Kettering Laboratory. We would greatly appreciate your sending us any releases that you may have prepared on this matter, and any other information that you may feel free to pass on to us.

Very truly yours,

Erma A. Hinek
Erma A. Hinek

EA:el t

*Answered before receipt of the letter
File with other material on these cases and cross-file both Consumers Research and the alphabetical file "H"*