Dear Dick:

I have your letter of January 18, 1961, summarizing the costs to date of the Underwriters' investigation and, rather than wait longer until I can get this all resolved, I thought I would write you now.

I will issue a purchase order to clear this up, Dick, as soon as we can get the following items straightened out:

1. In my letter of August 31, 1959, the understanding was that we would add the total cost of both investigations and divide by two, then make an adjustment. Thus far we have been unable to get our bill from Underwriters' and, while it will only amount to a couple hundred dollars, I'd like to get this into the pot at the same time.

2. In the same letter it was spelled out that this agreement applied only to the Underwriters' billings and not to cost of materials, etc., in your letter of September 9 and mine of September 14, 1959, we discussed this further without reaching an agreement. I will have to get this cleared and then, if we are going to add in materials and labor, do so on the Minerta which was furnished also before making the adjustment.

I will try to get this all straightened out and an order issued to you in the next week or so.

Very truly yours,
