Byron,

Thanks again for meeting with ag leaders last Monday, March 13th. From our perspective, it was a great meeting.

This is a reminder of our interest in a meeting of the parties regarding the Biogenic CO2 Coalition's legal challenge to EPA's Finding that "Greenhouse Gas Emissions from Aircraft Cause or Contribute to Air Pollution that May Reasonably Be Anticipated to Endanger Public Health and Welfare." A motion to govern future proceedings is due by March 30, 2017, though we would be open to seeking a delay. We are challenging the Obama Greenhouse Gas Regulations' assertion that EPA is not required to consider the "source" of feedstocks (whether fossil or biomass) that result in emissions and that biogenic emissions have the same effect on the atmosphere as fossil fuels, despite an absence of mention of biogenic CO2 in the Endangerment Finding.

Please advise if and when appropriate officials of EPA would be available to discuss this and, perhaps, our two other challenges of EPA rules in connection with treatment of biogenic CO2 under the greenhouse gas endangerment finding.

Thanks for your consideration.
