Dear Tony:

Enclosed is the transcript of Ted Torkelson's interview by CBS taken from a Dow tape. There is some garbling and the tape ended in mid-sentence on the last page but other than these technical problems, it is a pretty accurate transcript of the interview. As I mentioned to you on the phone a day or so after this interview took place, they did bore in on Ted rather hard as to what he did with the information he acquired from Maltoni in January of 1973 and how was this information disseminated to other vinyl chloride and PVC manufacturers in the U. S. They also bored in on what Dow and others told their workers about this potential health problem and when we did it. I think Ted handled himself quite well but there were several areas that were difficult.

I thought you would appreciate having the transcript in the event that CBS comes back at you for further comments prior to putting their show on the road.

Sincerely,

Duane C. Nuechterlein

enc. Nick
