Q What was the trouble up there at Sarance that Bobby

Vorwald "Tony (Lanza) did many things for the enr aggrandizement and for the benefit of individuals
he served rather than for the advancement of science."

Q You mean that you feel he placed his obligations to firms that had retained him
as a consultant ahead of advancement of scientific knowledge?

A Yes. And another thing I'd like to know is why he bought in foreigners.

Q Who are you thinking of there?

A Well, Schepers and Ken Smith.

Q Had Schepers done any cancer research?

A No. He hadn't done any research.

Q Well, you had developed a lot of experience in research, and particularly in making a fundamental contribution to research.
So had ?. When a man has developed experience, and is replaced by an inexperienced man, wouldn't you say that set back progress?

A Yes, I certainly would.

Q Would that not be an advantage to Allied
that was highly unprofitable?

A Yes, it would.

Q. Do you feel that Dr. Lange aided or impeded your efforts to develop your cancer studies?

A Well, my efforts were certainly blocked & stopped, and my feeling is that Tony was in the background of this. But he is a very shifty fellow and it is awfully hard to pin things down definitely, but I know perfectly well that he got me out.
