"Sign-up Day" for buyers whose homes are nearing completion was held last weekend at South Rancho Hills and North Bonita Hills, adjoining subdivisions being developed by the Parkside Construction Co. in the Parkside Hills area of San Diego.

Andrew Imp, sales manager, said 65 veteran families took advantage of the special day set aside to clean up paper processing work in connection with the home purchases. He said the sales force was almost swamped at desks laden with final papers. The families will soon be moving into their new homes in Unit 2 of the Parkside development.

Imp reported sales have been brisk at Parkside and each weekend draws a heavy parade of visitors. The homes have three bedrooms with one and one-half baths, and offer a variety in contemporary and traditional designs. Brick fireplaces, double garages and landscaping are included in the sales price.
