

manure. September is month for planting daffodils although they may still be planted in October and November.

eight inches apart for varieties and four inches for other ones. The depth is seven inches.

daffodils are not fussy and grow in almost any soil. They are not as touchy about soil as some other bulbs, because they come from the Pyrenees in Spain and are used to a somewhat moist soil.

is of yellow daffodils are as a planting in front of the house.
