Probe Cause of Air Force Crash That Killed 7

ALAMAGORDO, N.M. (U.P.)—An official investigation opened today into the crash of an Air Force C-47 cargo plane in the Sacramento Mountains. All seven men aboard the plane were killed in the Memorial Day tragedy.

A spokesman from nearby Holloman Air Force Base said a board of officers will visit the scene of the crash early today and begin a study of the accident.

The plane, a member of the 312th fighter bomber squadron of Clovis Air Force Base, Clovis, N.M., smacked into a canyon wall in front of 9,000-foot La Luz Peak shortly before dark last night. The crippled craft then plunged to earth and burned.

An Air Force spokesman at the scene of the crash last night said the ship's pilot, Maj. Edward Miller of Clovis, had apparently dipped into the canyon and was unable to pull out.

The spokesman said the doomed plane, on a routine flight from California to New Mexico, had just taken off from Holloman with a new load of cargo en route to its home base. The plane had left the municipal Airport in Burbank, Calif., earlier yesterday for Clovis.

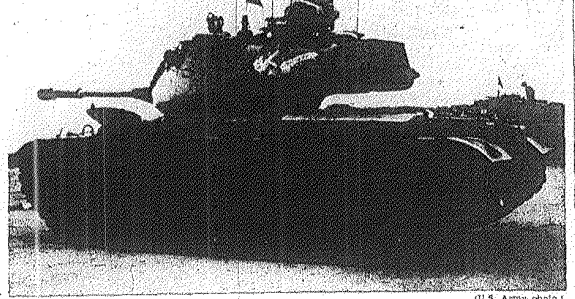

The other victims in the crash were 1st. Lt. Don Forbes of Portland, Ore.; 1st. Lt. Robert Haugan of Chicago; 1st. Lt. Clyde Johnson of Benson, N.C.; T. Sgt. Leamon Lawson of Clovis; Airman 2.C. Lester Barnes, Maywood, Calif., and Airman 2.C. Charles Deaton, Commiskey, Ind.

The Lehi II, captained by Devere Baker, made an unsuccessful attempt to drift to Hawaii on a scientific expedition. The raft was abandoned in rough waters less than 50 miles from the Golden Gate.

Prohibition has been recognized as a national objective in the Indian constitution. Its attainment has been left to the individual states. Few have acted drastically.

Bombay state is one which has, and the city of Bombay had become an Asian edition of prohibition America.

Hiding Places

Some bootleggers have turned to railroads and pedestrians. Centers of book pages are cut away, leaving only their edges between the covers. Into the hole a tin of liquor fits perfectly.

"Long tubes of rubber also serve. The bootleggers fill the tubes with liquor, securely tie the ends and then wrap the 10 or 12-foot tube around the body of a confederate. In his clothing the smuggler may look a little plump, but he usually gets by—unless the tube bursts.
