Subject: Informative YouTube series

Hi,

I wanted to let first say that it is a shame that the words "climate change" used together is now taboo under the new administration. I mean get a grip. That is exactly what is happening. The climate IS changing.

Secondly, I wanted to inform the current EPA administrator and the current EPA leaders that there is a very informative series on YouTube called "Years of Living Dangerously" that talks about this topic. It features prominent folks in the entertainment and news business traveling all over the world. They focus on topics that are contributing to our changing climate. When I say "our" I mean everyone on the planet. We are all in this together.

The fossil fuel industry has had the power and control for too long. Individual states are going to steer this nation in the right direction, where taking action to prioritize clean air and drinking water is essential for our survival.
