Re: Vinyl Chloride Monomer Transportation
Emergencies

This will confirm our recent oral advice that it would be reasonable, from the legal point of view, for Monochem and/or Uniroyal to give advice on handling or disposition of vinyl chloride monomer involved in transportation emergencies. Since the handling of these emergencies is almost invariably the primary responsibility of the carrier, such assistance should be of an advisory nature only.

The giving of advice in situations of this kind need not be limited to monomer owned by Monochem or Uniroyal.

We understand that all producers and users of vinyl chloride monomer in the United States are participating in this program in the manner referred to above.
