Subject: Causing gas leaks where we live
Attachments: VID_20171101_142040.mp4

You can clearly hear that loud roaring sound behind us and we've been feeling weak and dizzy almost every single day and night! It's been very damp and freezing cold here and I've even found right along the old gas pipelines here like in my back yard staying soaking wet even when it's not rained so that's how I can tell they're still leaking. We've been having flu like symptoms because of this, migraines, and blurred vision, we've been experiencing fatigue, we've been unable to sleep much as well, we also have trouble with keeping an appetite and sometimes it's difficult to use our power as well because of this. Our water is another issue I'm having it's been coming out of the faucet with an oily substance and it's not always like this but if you could send someone to inspect the bottled water I've kept you can test it and see for yourself. We are also being overcharged for our water because half the time I can hardly even use it it's so oily and nasty during the day and our manager has someone going around checking the meters that I've seen for myself has been writing down fake readings because you can look at the meter and see nobody has cleaned the mud off to read it. Someone should inspect the water and other things happening in this area because everyone deserves clean drinking water and a safe and healthy place to live with their children. Thank you for taking the time to read this.
