For profits to amount to California building and loan associations is 800 percent with $29.78 a year ago.

U. I. Corporation state building and loan associations started back mortgage and term loans, which now contain more than 200,000 California loans for the new California building and loan association act, which has met back for credit in the case legislation.

"This bill will give to California one of the most important legislative actions in the state since incorporation of the financial structure of the state.

"After this 70 per cent of the loans made by private saving for the construction of public use of houses, many of these institutions should be kept simpler than in the building trade, improve the purchase of building materials and construction and of the principal factor in community development."
