up?

Never mind, don't even answer.

MR. WILLIAMS: If I am afforded the option --

THE COURT: Mr. Grewe will have 45 minutes and Mr. Wood will have 45 minutes.

How are you going to break that up?

Both sides can save some for rebuttal obviously and if you want to divide arguments between you, feel free.

MR. IGNATOWSKI: I think we are going to divide it some, Your Honor, but is it possible that we could let you know in the morning?

THE COURT: Yes, sure.

MR. IGNATOWSKI: That is fine. There will either be two or maximum of three people and that will be it.

THE COURT: I only see three for Mr. Grewe and two for Mr. Wood, unless you want your paralegal, who has carried your brief throughout this proceeding, to argue for you, feel free.
