Alan,

Thanks for your August 8 memorandum and copies of outside counsel July 24 and July 25, 1984 letters. Among the options that are available in this case (the three noted in your August 8 letter and the one noted in outside counsel July 24 letter), it would appear that the option of litigating the Statute of Limitations defense is most attractive. Is there some reason why we should not pursue the course of action, particularly since outside counsel appears to be advocating such course of action?

Very truly yours,

L. A. Crisorio
