Re: VU 1940 Clear Ol
Vinyl Film

Dear Mr. Smith:

Your letter to Mr. E. B. Freeman of the Bakelite Company has been referred to me for answering. VU 1940 clear Ol vinyl film consists of a vinyl polymer, which accounts for two thirds of its composition. A plasticizer known as DOP, or di(2-ethylhexyl) phthalate comprises around one third of its composition. Less than 2% of its formulation is an organic tin stabilizer (dibutyl tin dilaurate).

You state in your letter that Dr. R. E. Straith of the Straith Clinic requests the above information. In event he should wish any specific information on the components of this film, we shall be glad to cooperate if Dr. Straith will write to me.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Freeman:

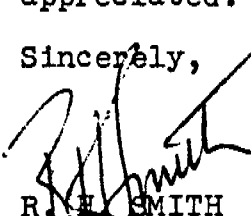

As you probably know, Mr. Freeman, we are using your VU 1940 clear 01 vinyl film in our Restoration bra, which is a bust aid for those women who have undergone a mastectomy operation.

We have a request from the Straith Clinic in Detroit, Michigan for the chemical formula and the content of impurities in this film.

This request comes from Dr. Richard E. Straith of the Straith Clinic.

If you can supply us this information, it would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

R. H. SMITH
