GARDEN SECTION MEETS WITH ELLA KELLOGG

The garden section of the Carmel Woman's Club held its last meeting of the season with Miss Ella Kellogg at her home on Casanova and Ninth. Miss Kellogg's lovely garden is a tapestry of blue, lavender, purple and mauve. Her terraced flower beds have charming border plants, all surrounding a sheltered patio. She has had great success in raising flowers from seed, and many friends have shared in this success as Miss Kellogg is most generous with her seedlings.

Mrs. Lester Rowntree spoke to club members on Thursday morning on the subject which she has made her special study—wildflowers. She had with her many beautiful specimens of native wildflowers and also several unusual varieties which she had picked up in her travels in foreign lands. Telling of her pilgrimages through various parts of the West, Mrs. Rowntree gave vivid

HOME COOKED FOODS

Home cooked foods, contributed by members of the Rainbow Girls assembly, will be offered for sale next Saturday, May 12, at food sales to be held in the building at the corner of Lighthouse and Forest avenues, Pacific Grove, and at Escondido's Monterey store. The sales are being given by the Rainbow assembly and are the first enterprises of that nature sponsored by the Rainbow Girls.

MISS BERTHA SMITH ENTERTAINS GROUP

The ladies of the Seaside church were entertained Thursday afternoon by Miss Bertha Smith, pastor of the church, at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. W. Sergeant in Pacific Grove.

Mrs. Ben Taylor conducted the business meeting, when plans were made to start a quilt, each lady to make one block. Mrs. M. A. Reese is chairman of the committee in charge of the project.

A contest was also begun, with the group divided into two teams, for sewing "money patches" on aprons. Amounts will not be revealed until an appointed day, and the losing side will then entertain the winners at a luncheon. Mrs. A. Reese and Mrs. R. L. Furlong are captains of the two teams.

A devotional service was led by Mrs. Reese, and a poem, "Others," was read by Mrs. Taylor, after which the guests enjoyed a program of games and refreshments. Those enjoying Miss Smith's hospitality were Madam F. M. Rosgrim, B. F. Taylor, Marshall, J. V. Breaux, M. A. Reese, Haggar, Clark, J. G. Campbell, Brown, W. A. Sergeant, Deleon, Brickle, R. L. Furlong and the Misses Good, Anita Murray and Gladys Smith.

Y.L.I. MEMBERS AT SALINAS MEETING

The official visit of Mrs. Clara Dunn, grand president of the Young Ladies Institute, was made to the Salinas organization Thursday night and a delegation from the Monterey Peninsula Y. L. I. motored over to greet the distinguished officer.

A clever recitation, "Bones," was given by Miss Gertrude Caughell during the evening's program, and Mrs. Edward V. Grimes and Miss Patricia MacChesney presented an amusing skit.

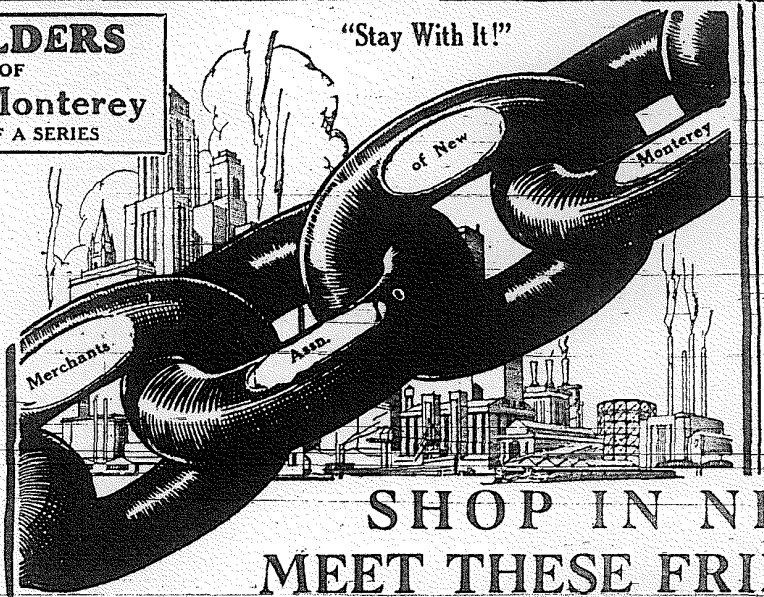

Attending from here were Mrs. John Powers, Mrs. Job Wood, Mrs. Joe Perry, Mrs. N. V. Goerling, Mrs. Grimes, the Misses Anne Norwood, Grace Caughell, Rose and Anna King, Patricia MacChesney and Gertrude Caughell.

NO KIN—This young man's name is John Dillinger and he is a native of Indiana, but he is not even distantly related to the notorious Indiana outlaw of that name. A student at Indiana University, he has been embarrassed by the wide notoriety that his name has recently received. Strangely enough, he was raised at Martinsville, Ind., only 18 miles from Mooreville, where the other John Dillinger grew up.
