My dear Edgar:

Please accept my thanks for your letter giving your approval to the article which I sent you some days ago. I am now having the material printed and it will be ready in a few days for presentation to the insurance people.

The last time I talked with Mr. Mittnacht we discussed the means of presenting this material. He called up a gentlemen with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, whose name I do not remember, and agreed with him that when our material was ready for presentation, a conference would be arranged between me and certain of their representatives, at which time we would discuss the whole subject of insurance rates for men employed as mixing operators.

Such correspondence as has been had with the Metropolitan people over this question includes a letter dated May 27th from Mr. Mittnacht to Mr. Fred E. Hamilton, Supervisor in the Group Insurance Division of the Metropolitan, together with a reply from Mr. A. C. Campbell, 3rd Vice President of the Metropolitan, dated June 14th. I suspect it was Mr. Hamilton whom Mr. Mittnacht called, but in any case I am sure contact could be made through Mr. Hamilton with the proper persons.

I shall have to be in New York on May 20th. If it would be at all feasible, I could be there a day or two in advance of this date and could meet with the insurance people and discuss the matter at that time. If this matter is not in your province, I should appreciate it if you would pass it along to whomever should be responsible for it in the New York office, letting me know what date has been arranged so that we can get this matter cleared up.

Very truly yours,
