THE WITNESS: Oh, you can't hear me?

THE COURT: We are having a little difficulty hearing you, ma'am.

THE WITNESS: I am sorry.

THE COURT: Just pretend you are angry with me, and we will hear you.

THE WITNESS: I don't want to do that.

THE COURT: That is okay. It is all right.

BY MS. HINES:

Q He says okay, you can do that.

You said he wouldn't eat, he was drowsy, sit up in the rocker?

A He was drowsy, and he just wasn't himself. He wouldn't stay asleep too long.

He would sit up in the bed and pain would hurt him and his chest would hurt him and his back would hurt.

Can you hear me?

THE COURT: Yes, ma'am.

A I can hardly explain it to you how bad he felt because I just looked at his eyes, and I knew he
