Subject: Re: seeking clarity on whether red/blue team proposal on climate moving forward

Andrew, no additional information to share at this time.

That's attributable to an EPA spokesperson.

Dear Ernesta and Robert,

Please forward as necessary. I have a ProPublica story running later today on the recent brouhaha over the draft Climate Science Special Report, with a section on Administrator Pruitt's stated climate views and the 'red team' proposal. In an interview Steve Koonin confirms he's been in conversations with Admin. Pruitt and Sec. Rick Perry on this.

I'd like a comment from the Administrator or EPA on where things stand.

[Ex. 6] mobile best bet or email of course.

Thanks,

Andy R.
