Hi Rob. You are on my schedule at 5:00 PM today. Main Interior Bldg, 1849 C. St. Washington DC.

Come to my office, Room 6113. The guards will ask for my number...202 513-0561.

I look forward to meeting you.

Please confirm receipt of this message? I'm learning how to use Google Mail, so I'm not uncertain about messages getting through. Thanks.

Hi Jim- Circling back to you. I am available at or after 5 on Thursday and would be very happy to meet you at the most convenient location for you. Our board meeting will run through noon tomorrow. At 2PM, I'm meeting with the public lands director for National Association of Counties Organization. I will pencil in 5PM and await your confirmation.

Thank you very much,

Rob

Hi Rob,

I have a couple of options. We could meet for lunch in our 5 Star DOI cafeteria on Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday. Or I currently have Friday afternoon open after 3 PM. I can meet on Wednesday at or after 4 PM and Thursday at or after 5 PM.

Would any of these times work for you?

Jim

Thank you, Lynn, for the introduction.

Jim, glad to make your acquaintance. I am in DC this week to attend the NARUC winter meeting and for our Board meeting (Wednesday afternoon, Thursday morning). If you have availability and would like to speak this week, please let me know the best time for you.

Thank you,

Rob

Hi, Jim and Rob

Through this email, I am connecting you to one another. Jim, Rob is President of conservamerica, an organization of Republicans, conservatives and independents long engaged in advancing conservation and environmental protection with a framing that a healthy environment and sound economy are complementary. Prior to coming to conservamerica, Rob was in commercial banking for many years.

Rob has long been involved in Great Lakes and International Boundary Commission issues, among many other things. He would welcome the opportunity to discuss these with you and explore a possible role in the Administration.

I hope you are able to connect.

Lynn
