Climax to the entire Centennial swimming program will be the re-knowned Ann Curtis Crystallcade at the Roman Plunge of the Monterey Naval school. The free show begins at 2 30 p m

The brilliant water pageant will open with a "parade of champions" during which the entire cast will be introduced. Among the numerous production numbers scheduled are a gold and silver ballet, "Ponies on Parade," an underwater act entitled "Indian Folk-lore," and an "Island Fantasy."

Male members of the troop will perform in a serious diving exhibition as well as several comedy numbers. Norman Hanley will do a solo number "Around the World" in the guise of Professor Gylockenspiel.

The show features a professional interlude performed by Ann Curtis Cuneo, Olympic swimming champion. Otherwise, the remainder of the aquaticade will be performed by amateur members of the Crystal Plunge Swimming club from San Francisco.

Stepmother Out On Bail After Binding Child

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept 1 (UP)—A 39-year-old Oakland woman was free on bail today after police found her seven-year-old stepdaughter bound hand and foot and imprisoned in a tiny unventilated closet to "make her behave."

The stepmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Westfall, wife of a mill worker, said the child was "uncontrollable and spanking does her no good." She said she locked the child in the closet "because it was the only way we could make her behave."

Mrs. Westfall was released on $300 bail after being charged with "unjustifiable punishment causing a child to suffer."

Police were summoned to the home yesterday after the child's cries attracted the attention of an unidentified plumber. They found the youngster, Jadean Marie, lying on the floor of the closet, bound hand and foot by skipping rope and hair ribbon.

The child's father, Lee Westfall, 39, told police he knew of his wife's punishment of his daughter but denied participation in it.
