Dave,
Scott Cameron, who is handling Bureau of Reclamation issues, is looking into your issue.

On the OIG report, it will depend on the type of report and what is contained in it as to whether or not we can provide it. We are looking into that.

Hoping you and the family are well and that things are not too crazy in DC. What we read on the internet is sometimes tough to believe and if anywhere near accurate must be amazing to live through.

I'm just checking to see if you had received the information I sent your way and if you had an opportunity to look into the final report from the OIG?

Thanks in advance for all you can do!

I hope and trust you are well.

One of my very good friends Dave McDonald is pretty active in SCI and a true sportsman running a flyfishing operation out of Dutch John, Utah. "DJ" is an interesting place to say the least but it is where the A, B and C Sections of the mighty Green River start under the Flaming Gorge Dam in Utah. It is one of the great lower 48 trout fisheries.

They have a series of issues going on up there related to water and land stuff which Dave is a true expert on. Could you make some time next week to meet with him by chance?

Jeff:

The attached file is a talking points overview on the problems created by the Bureau of Reclamation when it abandoned the community of Dutch John. It also has some suggestion on what could be done to resolve the problems that we are faced with.

I will be in Washington next Thursday, March 9 and could be in downtown DC for a meeting after 10:00AM.

Thanks for your help
