getting the actual thing printed, that kind of stuff. But as I say, the content was that pushed in by people like Ike Weaver and Harry Wagner, people from the Asbestos Study Planning. How much time did I put, between 40 and a hundred hours.

Q How much time was devoted to reviewing medical or science articles about asbestos?

A I can't recall that.

Q Was it anywhere near half?

MR. FRIESTEDT: Objection.

A If I reviewed them it might have been me reviewing them and nobody else reviewing them. I can't really tell you. Maybe it was ten hours, maybe it was 20 hours. But I read stuff that came in when I felt it pertained to our particular industry. But I did not read all the crud that was coming in.

Q Who decided was crud and what wasn't?

A I did. If it didn't pertain to brake linings I was not going to get involved in it.

Q Okay. Let me direct your attention to a memo that you prepared as executive director of the FMSI dated May 22, 1975, the subject is Recent Distributions - Relative to OSHA Asbestos Standards. Let me hand you that and ask you to look
