Dear Mr. Swim:-

I have your two recent letters which I have examined with some interest. At the moment it does not appear that you are in need of any advice from me, nor do I feel that I can make any very useful addition to the information which you have. I shall be interested, of course, in any further developments of this case, and I shall hold myself in readiness to give you any further advice of which I am capable. I would assume from your letter of December 16th that if you obtain the decision which you have sought, the case will be at an end. I shall, therefore, reserve any further comments until I hear from you as to the outcome.

Sincerely yours,

RAK:is
