

1           Q     Doctor, in the field of industrial hygiene,
2     is there a -- is there the equivalent of a code of 3     ethics or a code of professional responsibility?

4           A     Yes, sir. It is kind of in limbo now,
5     because somebody is challenging it, so it has been put 6     on the stack.

7                     I think it was Ken Cohen that tried to sue
8     somebody about it, so it has been put on the back
9     burner, and now there is one.

10          Q     Well, it is true, is it not, that, in the 11     field of industrial hygiene, that if an industrial 12     hygienist does work or surveys a workplace and finds
13     that there is some danger or hazard in the workplace
14     to the workers, the industrial hygienist owes her or 15     his first loyalty to the workers, not to the 16     management, if the management says don't tell them?

17          A     That is the appropriate thing to do, that is 18     true.

19          Q     Now, Doctor, it is true, is it not, that for 20     you at least, if you personally had been an industrial 21     hygienist back in the 1930s and '40s and '50s in an
