Use of Masks

I refer to your correspondence on Safety Precautions with Mr. Clogg, and in particular to your letter to him of 23rd February 1965, and this is to advise you that, as part of a general review of precautions throughout the Group, I have now had the benefit of Mr. McKenna's advice on your system.

Generally speaking, it is very satisfactory, but there are one or two minor points on the yellow cardboard-backed receipt which you issue about which Mr. McKenna would like to make some enquiries, and it may be that in the light of what emerges he may wish to recommend slight drafting changes when you next reprint.

He is, I think, due to come to Rochdale on another matter in the near future and, with your permission, I should be very much obliged if he might arrange to see, I imagine, Mr. Pearce, and, of course, anyone else that Mr. Pearce would like to have with him at such a discussion.
