Subject: RE: re water system data

Jenny,

On background: The state remains the best source for your follow-up inquiry. While EPA maintains the ECHO database, the state provides the data and can therefore explain the actions/dates.

Okay, so a question on SDWA based on the page: <https://echo.epa.gov/detailed-facility-report?fid=KY0800273&sys=SDWIS>

Did Martin County, Ky, receive four SDWA violations in 2017?

There appear to be four violations in 2017 compliance periods. Is that correct? It's somewhat confusing as the compliance period is 2017, but the "state administration/compliance order with penalty issued" is listed as 2016.
