Re: Nevada Power Company v. Monsanto Company, et al.
USDC, District of Nevada Case CV-S-89-555-LDG (LRL)

Dear Professor Warren:

I have been trying to contact you, but with no luck so far. Therefore, I am sending you this telefax to update you on some events that have come to pass in the last few days.

Late Friday afternoon (July 30, 1993) the defendants and Nevada Power signed a stipulated extension regarding expert disclosure and depositions. Under the new agreement, Nevada Power is now required to make expert disclosure on August 20, 1993. Depositions for experts will then take place from August 27, 1993 to October 1, 1993. This leaves you quite a bit more room to prepare.

If you would, please let me know of your available dates between now and October 1, 1993 so that we can work out times to meet and confer with you (either by telephone or in person) and to let the defendants know what dates during that period you will not be able to be deposed.

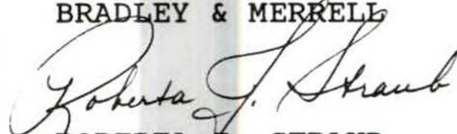

In addition, did you receive the telefax which I sent you before, regarding an outline for your 26(b)(4) disclosure? How did it look? If you have any comments, please let me know. I have written a draft statement in paragraph form, and can send it to you, if you desire.

You may also be contacted by a representative of a firm in Texas called Fisher, Gallagher & Lewis which will be working on this litigation.

Sincerely,
