

November 2, 1944

Dean Henry F. Vaughn,
University of Michigan,
Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Dear Dr. Vaughn:

The form letter attached hereto has been sent out to quite a number of members of the American Industrial Hygiene Association. I am particularly anxious to get together a good program this year and I should like to have some offerings from University groups so as to have some fair representation of the Universities in what will otherwise be a series of papers mostly from industrial research organizations. I would appreciate it very much if you would call the attention of various persons in your group to the fact that program material is being solicited and that their offerings will be given careful consideration in making up the program for this year.

I am not sure how familiar you are with these meetings, but I have no hesitation in expressing my own opinion by saying that the technical and scientific sessions of the American Industrial Hygiene Association have contained some of the most valuable contributions that have been made to the theory and practice of industrial hygiene. There have been more real investigation and information, and more original thought in connection with these programs for the past several years than have been represented in any other scientific meetings that I have had occasion to attend.

I shall appreciate your efforts in behalf of this program and I should be very glad to hear from any of your people either directly or through you.

Cordially yours,

Robert A. Kehoe, M. D.

AK ef

Enc.