hey there, Mr. Jackson

You called and left a message asking me to call you at [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy] a number which I was twice told is "not in service". So I tried some variations on that number, with no greater luck.

Then I tried looking you up in the EPA staff directory, which you are not listed in, astonishingly.

So, using the address format given in the recording when calling the 564-4700 number, I'm taking a shot in the dark that this might reach you.

So... you called. Someone also sent an e-mail, asking if I would be interested in serving on the SAB. I have served as an ad hoc member of the SAB in the past. I'm newly retired, and am surprised at how much I am enjoying not having governmental hoops to have to jump through. But I have read some interesting things about you and the SAP in the news recently, and know that shall we say "there are some openings on the SAB" :-)

So.. let's talk. You can try me again at [Ex. 6 - Personal Privacy] . and if you leave a message, it would be wonderful if you could either provide a working number, or speak distinctly enough so that we may understand you on the message machine.

many thanks.
