Assessment Values Increased This Year

Farm properties and store merchandise will be subjected to increased assessment valuation this year, according to announcement of County Assessor L. H. Clay. The assessor and a number of leading merchants recently held a conference for the purpose of determining a system of arriving at value for assessment purposes. Stocks in the stores, at which the merchants agreed that the merchants make a statement of the actual value of stocks on hand, which total be subject to an agreed discount. The past, it was explained, the merchants were allowed to arrive at their own figures on valuation, which result that inequalities developed. The new system will insure an increase of assessment and increase the revenue, it is expected.

The assessor takes the view that farm property and produce have greatly increased in value and stand a considerably increased assessment rating.
