his extensive ready-to-wear section. The store's exclusive gowns are Adrian creations. Perhaps he has a quick peak at the Nylon Boudoir where every item of nylon lingerie is available.

He has a ready Gallic comment wherever he stops. On women's hosiery: "Legs look shiny without stockings. They look beautiful through sheer nylons." He feels, though, that nylon thread although sheer, is still too hard, and has told this to one of the DuPonts he knows.

He never fails to walk through the Rotunda Gallery where works of art are on display. His sister, the Madame de Tesson, a shy, sensitive woman, is a recognized artist
