Mr. R. McClure, Chief of the Division of Occupational Health Programs, Occupational Safety and Health Administration, U. S. Department of Labor, Washington, D. C. 20210, called me today and asked for information on Askarel fluids.

This is the third request we have received from OSHA in the last couple of months covering this subject. Ray McClure is in the enforcing side of OSHA and is a good friend to cultivate. Would you please send him as much of the PCB information including the Askarel bulletin as we still have available for handout. In the old days we had a bunch of information that we used to send, and I would suggest that we gather together a bundle of information covering transformer and capacitor use of PCB's since we are being questioned by OSHA and the electrical generating industry about these fluids and PCB's in general.
