To Members of the Lead Industries Association, Inc.:

"Medical Perspective in Atmospheric Hygiene"

We are fortunate in having secured from Dr. Princi a number of reprints of the above article which is the text of an address he made at last year's annual meeting of the American Medical Association. The thoughts expressed in this article are of prime importance to every physician who has any occasion to be concerned with toxicology and physical effects of air-borne contaminants. We strongly recommend it to others who find themselves involved in such situations.

Our number of reprints is limited and we ask that you write in for your copy which will only be available as long as the supply lasts.
