

Williams & Wilkins

December 11, 1979
(Dictated 12/10/79)

Robert A. Kehoe, M.D.
Emeritus Professor of Environmental Medicine
University of Cincinnati
Medical Center
3223 Eden Avenue
Cincinnati, OH 45267

Dear Doctor Kehoe:

Thank you for clearing up the mystery of the Harben Lectures. As is clear to me from your letter of November 30, they were not published by Williams & Wilkins, nor apparently printed by Waverly Press, which is our manufacturing division. I see now that your letter did in fact come to us in error, although I must say I was delighted to see your statement that you do always think of Williams & Wilkins in connection with medical publications.

Good luck ^{to} with you in getting your materials published. I have no information about whether the Royal Society of Health and Hygiene continues to exist, as my Company has not had any dealings with it. I would suggest that if it does no longer exist then probably there would be no problem with reusing any material because there would be no one around holding the copyright.

Thank you for sharing the 1960 version of The Harben Lectures with me. I am returning them with this letter.

Cordially,

SARA A. FINNEGAN
Vice President & Editor-in-Chief

SAF:ap

Encl.