Governor Scott Discusses Hurricane Irma Recovery Efforts in the Florida Keys

MARATHON, Fla. – Today, Governor Rick Scott visited Monroe County to discuss Hurricane Irma recovery efforts with state and local officials and thank first responders, law enforcement and utility workers for their commitment to Florida families. Since Hurricane Irma moved through the state, Governor Scott has visited communities in the Florida Keys, Southwest Florida and Northeast Florida to tour local impacts, thank law enforcement and first responders and discuss recovery efforts with local leaders.

Governor Scott also announced that the license-free freshwater and saltwater fishing offer made to Florida's law enforcement and first responders to include utility workers. Read more HERE.
